The Challenge

Today many young people have very good ideas, but unfortunately they are often alone. They don't concretize their projects, because they don't find anyone who shares the same ideas. A project is often long and requires multiple skills. Social networks have taken a big place in our society, the aim of this project is to create a social network for young entrepreneurs. They will be able to find other people with complementary profiles in order to carry out their projects.

The Innovation

The project is innovative because it will allow millions of ideas to come true. When the project is completed, it will be enough to have an idea or have an area in which one wants to work and participate in their achievements.

The Impact

The project can have an enormous impact:

- At the social level, with the integration of young people into working life.
- In the creation of jobs to reduce unemployment.
- At the economic level, this project will create the future big startups for our countries and for the world.
